

Conservative Mennonite Conference 2010

This response will be put into a time capsule and stored in a safe place. Then, fifty years from now, people at Conference 2060 will get a chance to see what you wrote waaaaay back in 2010! Just think, you might even get to read it!

So, if you would like to write a note to everyone in 2060, take a moment or two and fill out part, or all, of this questionnaire and drop it into the box! Note: since fifty years is a long time, you probably want to write with a pen so that what you write does not smudge. Have fun!

1. Name: _____ Age: _____ Favorite Food: _____
Parents' names: _____ State: _____

Remember, people will be reading this letter fifty years from now. In order to help them get to know you better, describe yourself in a few sentences. It helps to be specific!

Example: I like to read The Boxcar Children series. I play soccer at school, and my favorite baseball team is the Atlanta Braves. I collect stamps, and my favorite one is from Mexico.

2. Can you think of an event or a person at Conference who helped you learn about God and how God wants us to treat others? What have you learned?

3. If you met somebody who was at Conference fifty years ago (in 1960), what would you want to know?

(There are probably quite a few people here at Conference that were your age at the Conference in 1960. I bet they would enjoy talking to you about what it was like waaaaay back then.) (Be bold and ask!)

Name of person who attended Conference in 1960: _____

Time Capsule: Children

4. What part of Conference 2010 has been your favorite so far? Why? (If you don't have a favorite moment yet, what part has been your favorite from past Conferences?)

5. What message would you like to say to yourself fifty years from now?

Draw a scene from Conference that you think shows God's love in action. Write a few sentences that explain what you drew, and if you want to include names of people in the sketch, that's even better! Feel free to use regular or colored pencils for this activity!
